THE UNIVERSITY

The University of Notre Dame was founded in 1842 by a young priest of a French missionary order, the Congregation of Holy Cross, Edward F. Sorin, C.S.C., started his school in the northern Indiana wilderness with about $300 and three log buildings in bad repair. In 1844, he received a charter from the state legislature.

Father Sorin’s initial educational program adapted the classic liberal arts curriculum to the needs of the frontier. Science entered the curriculum in 1865, and in 1869 a Department of Law was established, now the oldest American law school under Catholic auspices. Engineering was founded in 1873, a graduate program in 1918, and a College of Business Administration in 1921.

Today, the obscure school begun by Father Sorin has become a highly respected center of learning dedicated to the threefold goal of contemporary higher education - teaching, research, and service. From the missionary log chapel used by Notre Dame’s founders, the University has grown into a 1,250-acre campus with more than 100 buildings. The self-sufficiency of the campus, which surrounds two lakes and virtually constitutes a separate civic entity, contributes to the unusual solidarity and spirit of the Notre Dame student body.

The University embodies four undergraduate colleges (arts and letters, science, engineering, and business), the School of Architecture, the Law School, the graduate division of the Mendoza College of Business, and a graduate school offering programs for the master’s and Ph.D. degrees in some specific areas, as well as in interdisciplinary programs such as Irish studies, medieval studies, non-English literatures, and the history and philosophy of science.

There are also a number of specialized units within the University, including the Center for Environmental Science and Technology, the Center for Philosophy of Religion, the Erasmus Institute, the Helen Kellogg Institute for International Studies, the Kroc Institute for Irish Studies, the Joan B. Kroc Institute for International Peace Studies, the LOBUND Laboratory, the Medieval Institute, the Notre Dame Institute for Church Life, and the Radiation Laboratory. Of particular importance in maintaining a tradition of excellence is the Theodore M. Hesburgh Library, one of the largest university library buildings in the world. The 14-story structure provides study facilities for 2,900 students.

Notre Dame was operated by the Congregation of Holy Cross until May 1967 when, in a historic move, the congregation turned the University over to lay control with the establishment of two principal governing groups: the Fellows of the University and a predominantly lay Board of Trustees. Notre Dame, however, maintains its identity as a Catholic institution.

APPLICATION/COURSE SELECTION

Notre Dame Continuing Students. University of Notre Dame continuing students (i.e. students who attended Notre Dame during the spring semester of 2013 and who are eligible to continue their studies during the fall semester) must register for summer session courses using the University’s web registration system. Registration is from Wednesday, March 20 through the course add and drop dates published in this Bulletin. In addition, this information and updates can be viewed by selecting “Summer Class Search” online at summersession.nd.edu.

Course descriptions and the individual course reference numbers (CRNs) required to register are in this Bulletin. In addition, this information and updates can be viewed by selecting “Summer Class Search” online at summersession.nd.edu.

Information regarding on-campus meal plans and housing are available at summersession.nd.edu.

Notre Dame continuing undergraduate students may not register as auditors in any summer session course.

Non-Notre Dame/Visiting Summer Students. Students who attend Notre Dame only during the summer (i.e., students visiting from other institutions and persons taking courses for personal enrichment) may apply for courses online. The online application is available on the Notre Dame Summer Session website at summersession.nd.edu.

Once accepted, visiting students may drop or add courses using the University’s web registration system according to the add and drop dates printed with each course. After those add and drop dates, students must use the standard Academic Course Change form available at the department offering the class.

Instructions for the web registration system are available on the web at registrar.nd.edu

Student Status. New students seeking the master of arts degree at Notre Dame must complete the Graduate School online application.

Graduate or undergraduate students currently enrolled in degree programs at other institutions should apply as nondegree students. Such applications are for summer courses only and may not be used for admission to Notre Dame degree programs.

High school students in special pre-college programs and nondegree, undergraduate students working in research laboratories should apply as nondegree students.

Course Selection. This Bulletin of Information serves as a schedule of courses containing specific information about each course [e.g. course number, course reference number (CRN), title, meeting time/days, add/drop deadlines, description]. In addition, this information and updates can be viewed by selecting “Summer Class Search” online at summersession.nd.edu.

Students should use the entire COURSE ID when completing the application. The COURSE ID, which is given at the beginning of each course description, includes a four-digit course reference number (CRN), the subject code (four letters or fewer) followed by a five-digit course number, and a two-digit section number.

Selection of a course is subject to the approval of the department in which it is offered. Official admission to the University for the purpose of taking courses in the summer session is granted only by the director of the summer session. The University reserves the right to withdraw any course without sufficient registration.

English Language Qualification.
International students whose native language is not English, or who have not completed at least two years of full-time study in an English-speaking university, must submit official score reports from the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) showing a score of at least 250 on the computer-based test or a total score of at least 80 on the Internet-based test.

TOEFL is offered several times each year at sites in the United States and abroad. If not available locally, the annual schedules and other information about TOEFL can be obtained from:

ND ROLL CALL

ND Roll Call is a required process which gives the University important information about the student and is independent of the application/course selection (registration) process. All students, including Notre Dame continuing students, must complete the ND Roll Call process at the beginning of classes.

ND Roll Call is available on any computer through a web browser. Summer-only students must first obtain a NetID and password by accessing https://accounts.nd.edu/activation. All students who have a NetID may then go through the ND Roll Call process through insideND (inside.nd.edu) by clicking on the “Student Academic” tab. Then, within the “Student Academic Services” channel, click on “ND Roll Call.”

Summer-only students must obtain an identification card when they arrive on campus. Identification cards are available at the Card Services Office in the lower level of the South Dining Hall. Presentation of an identification card is required for admission to special events and for use of the Hesburgh Library, departmental and college libraries, computer clusters, athletic facilities, and University Health Services.

All financial accounts for the summer session and for any previous semester(s) for which there are unpaid charges must be settled by the first class day. This is a pre-condition for maintaining registration and participating in summer session courses.

1. ND Roll Call for the Summer Session. Students who have registered for courses that begin during the first week of the summer session (June 17–21) must complete the ND Roll Call process no later than Friday, June 21. Late registration of students for courses that begin during the first week of the session must be authorized by the director of the summer session. Once a student has received authorization for late registration, he or she can verify their attendance by using the ND Roll Call process. No student will be allowed to register for a course after the “add” date published with the course description.

Any student who has applied for the summer session and has not received official notice of admission, and any student who has not yet applied, must report to the Office of the Summer Session, 300 Grace Hall.

2. ND Roll Call for Special/Short Courses. Students who have registered for courses that begin before or after the first week of the summer session (June 17–21) must complete the ND Roll Call process by the first day. Students need to complete the process only once even if they are taking courses that begin before or after the first week of the summer session.

3. ND Roll Call for Independent Study. Students registered for any form of independent study (e.g. special studies courses, directed readings courses, or thesis or dissertation research) may complete the ND Roll Call process as early as Monday, May 20.

ACADEMIC REGULATIONS

In general, the rules and regulations given in the Bulletin of Information, Undergraduate Programs and the Bulletin of Information, The Graduate School apply, respectively, to undergraduate and graduate students during the summer as well as the academic year.

In cases where statements in these Bulletins do not coincide with those in the Summer Session Bulletin, the Undergraduate Bulletin and Graduate School Bulletin will apply during the academic year and the Summer Session Bulletin will apply during the summer.

An example of a difference is the maximum course load allowed during a term, which is lower in the summer session because of the intense nature and rapid pace of summer courses. The summer session is an integral part of the University year, and the courses offered in it are similar in character to courses in the regular year. They are governed by the same academic regulations and have the same credit value.

Course Load and Units of Credit. The unit of credit is the semester hour. By doubling the time of classroom instruction per week, students earn the same amount of credit in a course in the summer session as in a semester course of the academic year. In laboratory and studio courses, two clock-hours count as one class period.

The maximum number of courses that may be taken concurrently during a summer session by students pursuing a Notre Dame undergraduate degree is two. The maximum number of credit hours that may be taken by degree or non-degree students during the summer session is as follows:

- Graduate School: 10
- College of Arts and Letters: 8
- College of Science: 8
- College of Engineering: 8
- Mendoza College of Business: 8
- School of Architecture: 8
- First Year of Studies: 8

Any credit hours over the maximum must be approved by the associate or assistant dean for academic affairs of the student’s college. Students pursuing a Notre Dame graduate degree and all nondegree students who wish to take more than the maximum number of courses or credit hours must have the permission of the director of the summer session.

To be considered full-time in the summer session, an undergraduate student must register for six or more credit hours.

Correspondence credits are not accepted toward a Notre Dame degree.

Schedule Changes. No seven-week course that begins during the first week of the summer session (June 17–21) may be added after Friday, June 21.

No seven-week course that begins during the first week of the summer session (June 17–21) may be dropped after Tuesday, June 25, for full refund, or Wednesday, July 10, without a refund, except in cases of serious physical or mental illness.

Courses of fewer or greater than seven weeks must be added or dropped according to the dates specific to each course. Add and drop dates are available in this Bulletin or by selecting “Summer Class Search” online at summersession.nd.edu.

Notre Dame continuing students who have registered for the summer session must use the Web registration system to change their course selections according to the add and drop dates printed with each course. After those dates, all schedule changes (adds or drops) must be made on the standard Academic Course Change form available at the department offering the class.

Non-Notre Dame summer-only students who have registered using the online application for courses may change their course selections by use of the University's Web registration system through insideND (inside.nd.edu), if these changes are within the add and drop dates printed with each course. Changes after the published drop dates must be made on the standard Academic Course Change form available at the department offering the class.

Summer-only students may access the University's Web registration system through insideND (inside.nd.edu). After entering the NetID and password obtained at https://accounts.nd.edu/activation, students go to the menu and select “Add or Drop Classes” and then select the term “Summer 2013” for adding or dropping courses. A copy of the new schedule may be obtained by doing a screen print.

All students who change their schedules after Friday, June 21, using the standard Academic Course Change form must secure official approvals for such changes according to the following guidelines:

Schedule changes (adds or drops) requested by students pursuing a Notre Dame undergraduate degree must be approved by the chair of the department in which the course is offered and by the director of the summer session.

Credit/Audit Changes. Notre Dame continuing undergraduate students may not change from credit-seeking to auditor in any summer session course.

Non-Notre Dame summer-only undergraduate students must make credit-hour changes in the Office of the Summer Session, 300 Grace Hall.

Notre Dame continuing and non-Notre Dame, summer-only graduate students must use the Web registration system to make credit-hour changes according to the add dates printed with each course. After those drop dates, credit changes must be made on the standard Academic Course Change form.

All changes from credit-seeking to auditor and from auditor to credit-seeking must be made within the period allowed for adding the course. Students should consult the add dates listed with each course description.

Changes from credit to audit are made in the Office of the Summer Session, 300 Grace Hall.

Class Conduct. At Notre Dame, students are expected to attend class regularly and punctually. At the beginning of the session, the instructor will state the class policy concerning excessive absences and permission to make up work when missed. In all but three exceptional circumstances, the University accords to the student's instructor the discretion to accept an excuse and permit make-up work. The three exceptional circumstances, which must be verified and approved by the associate vice president for residential life, are serious personal illness, death in the immediate family, and duties performed for the University.

At the discretion of the instructor, a failing grade may be given for excessive absences. A warning in writing stating “further absences will result in a failing grade” must first be given to the student with notice to the student's dean or the director of the summer session.

Students may assume a class is dismissed if the instructor does not appear within 15 minutes. The instructor who cannot meet with a class will normally provide a substitute.

Discontinuance of Summer Session

Courses. Notre Dame undergraduate students, Notre Dame graduate students, and all nondegree students who wish to drop a course can do so by selecting “Add or Drop Classes” through insideND according to the dates displayed with each course. All students wishing to drop the last course on their summer schedule must contact the Office of the Summer Session. These steps are necessary in order to avoid failure in summer session courses and to receive possible financial adjustment.

Refund information specific to discontinuance from summer session courses may be obtained by contacting the Office of Student Accounts.

Quality point values are used to compute the student's GPA. The GPA is the ratio of accumulated earned quality points to the accumulated earned semester credit hours. GPA computation takes into account only those grades earned in Notre Dame graduate courses by students with graduate status at Notre Dame. For courses taken in a department or college in the University, but outside the Graduate School, or taken outside the University, the grade will not be included in the GPA computation.

A student receives the temporary grade of I when, for acceptable reasons, he or she has not completed the requirements for a 60000- or higher-level graduate course within the semester or summer session. No grade of I can be given for courses below a 60000-level or higher-level graduate course in the final semester or final summer session of a terminal degree program.

The student must complete the coursework for a grade 30 days from when grades were due (for the semester in which the I was given) to complete the coursework for a grade. If the coursework is not completed by this date, the grade of I will be changed permanently to a grade of F. Extensions for Incompletes require formal approval from the associate dean of students in the Graduate School.

The University temporarily computes this grade as the equivalent of an F in calculating the GPA. When the student fulfills the

If, with the approval of the student's dean, an "X" grade is given in the student's graduating semester, it will revert to "F" if not changed within 30 days from the date of graduation.

For up-to-date summer session information, please visit us online at summersession.nd.edu.
above requirements, the I is replaced by the new grade. Faculty will be given 30 days from the last day of classes to turn in the grade change form to the Graduate School. Should the student not complete the coursework as required, the I will convert to an F on the transcript.

The department and the Graduate School will review a student who receives more than one I in a semester or an I in two or more consecutive semesters, to determine his or her eligibility for continued support and enrollment.

The grades of S and U (Satisfactory and Unsatisfactory) are used in courses without semester credit hours, as well as in research courses, departmental seminars, colloquia, workshops, directed studies, field education, and skills courses. These courses, if given the grade of S, do figure in a student’s earned semester credit-hour total but do not figure in the computation of the GPA. A grade of U will not count toward the student’s earned semester credit-hour total, nor will it figure in the computation of the GPA.

The grade of V (Auditor) has no quality-point value; however, it does have credit and billable hours. It is the only grade available to the registered auditor. The grade of V (Auditor) has no quality-point value; however, it does have credit and billable hours. It is the only grade available to the registered auditor. The grade of V cannot be changed to a credit-earning grade. Information about declaring an audit is posted at registrar.nd.edu/audit.shtml.

The grade of W (Discontinued with Permission) is given for a course that a student is allowed to drop after the midsemester point.

Honors at Graduation. In the undergraduate colleges, a degree will be granted with highest honors (summa cum laude) the student’s grade point average ranks among the top 5,000 percent of those students graduating from the student’s college or school; for a student whose grade-point-average ranks among the top 15,000 percent of the student’s college or school, a degree will be granted with high honors (magna cum laude); for a student whose grade-point average ranks among the top 30,000 percent of the student’s college or school, a degree will be granted with honors (cum laude). A student who meets the requirements of more than one category of honors will be awarded only the highest honor for which that student qualifies.

Accreditation and Academic Association. The University of Notre Dame is a member of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, the National Catholic Education Association, the Association of American Colleges, the American Council on Education, the National Commission on Accrediting (not an accrediting agency), the Council of Graduate Schools in the United States, and the Midwest Conference on Graduate Study and Research, and it is fully accredited by the Indiana State Board of Education. The University is also a member of the Indiana Conference of Higher Education, the International Association of Universities, the Catholicarum Universitatum Foederatio (Federation of Catholic Universities) and the Institute of International Education.

Transcripts for currently enrolled students can be requested online via insideND (inside.nd.edu) by clicking on the “Student Academic” tab. Then, within the “Student Academic Services” channel, click on the “Transcript Request” link. Former students can obtain the request form at registrar.nd.edu or in the Office of the Registrar, 300 Grace Hall, Notre Dame, IN 46556.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

An international student at the University of Notre Dame is any student who is present in the United States on a nonimmigrant visa. This includes any person who is not a U.S. citizen or U.S. permanent resident. U.S. immigration regulations govern enrollment requirements and restrictions for individuals who are present in the United States in the various visa categories. Non-Notre Dame sponsored summer students and summer-only students must provide accurate information about visa and immigration status during the application process to ensure compliance with the relevant U.S. immigration regulations. Continuing Notre Dame international students present in the United States on F-1 or J-1 visas are permitted to register for the summer session provided that their immigration documents remain valid.

ND International verifies and monitors the immigration status of all nonimmigrant visa holders enrolled at the University. Applicants and students may obtain additional information and contact ND International through its website international.nd.edu. International students at Notre Dame during the summer may participate in summer programs offered by ND International. For more information, please see international.nd.edu.

HOUSING, LAUNDRY, AND MEALS

A variety of Notre Dame Food Service meal plans may be purchased using forms provided at summersession.nd.edu.

Housing. Students who wish to reserve a room need to apply online. The online application for campus housing is available at insideND (inside.nd.edu) under the “Student Resources” tab, “Housing”, click “Home Under the Dome”. Single- and multi-occupancy rooms are available for men and women undergraduate students in separate designated residence halls, and graduate students in a co-ed residence hall. The University is unable to provide housing for spouses or families of summer session students. Both air-conditioned and non-air-conditioned housing is available on a first-come, first-served basis. Single occupancy is defined as use of one room, even though it may be part of a two- or three-room suite. There are a limited number of single rooms available. Each room is equipped with a bed, dresser, desk and chair, and wardrobe.

Notre Dame prohibits smoking in all buildings and vehicles owned by the University, including all residence halls.

Subject to final approval, the following is a list of housing prices for the summer session of 2013, Summer session housing includes cable and internet connections.

Air-conditioned undergraduate residence halls:
- single-occupancy: $230 per week
- multi-occupancy: $170 per week

Non-air-conditioned undergraduate residence halls:
- single-occupancy: $170 per week
- multi-occupancy: $135 per week

Air-conditioned graduate residence halls:

Bed linens, blankets, and pillows are not provided. Items not provided, as well as toiletry articles and other personal supplies, may be purchased at the University bookstore.

Personal property insurance coverage is recommended for all students. For more information, send an Email to housing@nd.edu.

Residence hall check-in is 3:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. daily, on the day before a particular program is scheduled to begin. Other commitments of these facilities preclude earlier availability.

Changes in room assignments will not be permitted without the express written permission of the Office of Housing. Rooms will be reserved for the period specified on the summer session housing application form. If cancellation or changes of course or program schedule occur requiring changes in the period of residency, the Office of Housing should be notified immediately in writing.

Requests for early or late arrivals must be submitted, in writing, to the Office of Housing at least 48 hours before arrival or departure.

Students in residence should note that it may not be possible to extend the original period of residency without advance notice. All residents must vacate their rooms within 24 hours after their last class. Housing is not available after 12:00 p.m. on Saturday, August 3.

Students who decide to not attend the summer session, or who decide to live in off-campus housing, must cancel any on-campus housing at least one week in advance of the period specified on the housing application. Because of regular maintenance and special renovation projects, residents can expect work in the residence halls, as well as temporary interruption of utility services.

Summer residence hall life is subject to all rules and regulations pertaining to the University of Notre Dame residence halls as outlined in the student handbook du Lac, the summer housing contract, and as promulgated by the Office of Housing and Student Affairs staff. These can be found at dulac.nd.edu.

Payment Regulations. Student financial accounts should be settled by the first class day. This includes Notre Dame continuing students who owe balances from previous academic year semesters or summer sessions. Statements will be available to students in advance of the summer session, except in cases of late applications. Payment is due upon receipt of the statement. (The University does not accept credit cards.) Payment of tuition and fees in advance may not be construed as acceptance by, or registration in, a particular department or degree program.

Students whose accounts have not been paid in full at the end of the summer session will not receive transcripts or grades. Also, diplomas, professional certificates, transcripts of credit, or other information concerning academic or disciplinary records will not be given until an account is paid in full.

Refunds/Dropping a Course. Students who drop a particular course are entitled to a full refund for the course, provided the course is dropped on or before the refund date shown immediately above the course description.

UNIVERSITY RULES AND REGULATIONS

Student Life. Students should be aware that the rules, regulations, and disciplinary procedures contained in the current du Lac: A Guide to Student Life apply to all students enrolled in the summer session. These include, but are not limited to, the parietal or visitation rules governing visiting hours in residence halls by members of the opposite sex, and rules applying to alcohol, sexual activity, drugs, damage to University facilities, theft, and violence. Students should consult the current du Lac (available online at dulac.nd.edu) for a complete explanation of these regulations.

Safety Information. The security of all members of the campus community is of paramount concern to the University of Notre Dame. Each year the University publishes an annual report outlining security and safety information and crime statistics for campus. This brochure provides suggestions regarding crime prevention strategies and important policy information about emergency procedures, reporting of crimes, law enforcement services on campus, and information about support services for victims of sexual assault. This brochure also contains information about the University’s policy on alcohol and other drugs, the SafeWalk program, and campus shuttle service.

This brochure is available by contacting:

University Security/Police

Notre Dame, IN 46556-5675
Tel.: (574) 631-8338
Website: ndsp.nd.edu

Traffic and Parking. Students are expected to be familiar with rules established to maintain safe and orderly traffic and parking on University property.

To obtain parking privileges, students must register vehicles at the Parking Office in 119 Hammes–Mowbray Hall immediately upon arrival at Notre Dame. The Parking Office is open from 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. Students who arrive outside these hours should obtain a pass from the Main Gate or the East Gate and then park in an assigned student lot and register the vehicle at the earliest opportunity.

A parking fee is required of all students who register a vehicle, except those who attended the University during the preceding spring semester and paid the parking fee at that time. The summer session parking fee is $45.

Copies of the rules governing parking lots, other parking areas, and fines and penalties, including towing, are available at the Parking Office and will be distributed to students registering a vehicle. Changes in these rules and any special directives concerning parking during the summer session will be posted in residence halls and other campus buildings. For additional information, check the Notre Dame Security Police website, ndsp.nd.edu.

THE HESBURGH LIBRARIES

The Hesburgh Libraries system consists of 9 libraries that house most of the books, journals, manuscripts, and other non-book library materials available on the campus. Currently, the collections contain over 3.3 million volumes, more than 3 million microform units, more than 34,000 electronic titles, and more than 29,000 audiovisual items in support of the teaching and research programs.

Through the Notre Dame website, users have immediate access to the Hesburgh Libraries catalog, an array of electronic periodical indexes and full-text documents, and professionally developed subject guides to local and Internet-based resources. From their computers, users may request individualized reference assistance, place interlibrary loan requests, suggest titles for purchase, and recall or renew charged materials. An electronic reserves module is available, as is an arts and letters document delivery service.

UNIVERSITY HEALTH SERVICES

University Health Services provides primary medical care for undergraduate and graduate students enrolled in the summer session, as well as for participants in authorized programs.

For all summer students, there is no charge for an evaluation by a nurse or physician at the University Health Center in time of illness/injury. Students are responsible for fees associated with diagnostic tests, medications, special procedures, X-rays, or hospitalization.

The University Health Center is located in Saint Liam Hall. The hours of operation are Monday through Friday, 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Written permission for medical treatment of a minor (any person under 18 years) is required from the parent or legal guardian and should be on file at the Student Health Center in order for services to be rendered. After hour urgent care is available at the Medpoint located at 6913 North Main Street, Granger, or at the Emergency Rooms of Memorial Hospital or Saint Joseph Regional Medical Center. Memorial Hospital is located in downtown South Bend. St. Joseph Regional Medical Center is located at 5215 Holy Cross Parkway in Mishawaka. For a medical emergency, dial 911.

UNIVERSITY COUNSELING CENTER

Counseling Services. The University Counseling Center (UCC) offers professional services to degree-seeking graduate and undergraduate students of the summer session. The UCC is devoted to meeting student needs and assisting students with their problems and concerns. These concerns might include personal growth and self-enhancement, vocational issues, academic anxieties, interpersonal relationships and social difficulties, depression, substance abuse and addiction, and a number of more severe emotional and psychological issues. Thus, services are offered for a full range of psychological issues. The UCC operates under an ethical code of strict confidentiality. The UCC also provides consultation to the University community. Faculty and staff, as well as students, may consult with the UCC staff in regard to situations related to students and student-life problems.

During the summer the UCC is staffed by licensed professional psychologists, counselors, social workers, a psychiatrist and doctoral psychology interns who are supervised by psychologists. During the academic year the UCC also employs a nutritionist.

Professional services are usually by appointment and can be arranged either in person or by telephone, but provision is always made for an emergency. Services are offered on a minimal fee scale of $4 per session. Students are offered unlimited credit and can defer payment. If fees still pose a problem, arrangements will be made. There is no charge for the initial appointment. During the summer, the Center is open from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., Monday through Friday.

The University Counseling Center is located on the third floor of Saint Liam Hall. For information or an appointment, call (574) 631-7336. Twenty-four hour emergency service is available by calling (574) 631-7336. The UCC website contains online self-help brochures and tips for making referrals: ucc.nd.edu.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT CAMPUS SECURITY AND FIRE SAFETY

The security of all members of the campus community is of paramount concern to the University of Notre Dame. Each year the University publishes an annual report about campus security and fire safety, including crime and fire statistics for campus. This document provides suggestions regarding crime prevention strategies and important policy information about emergency procedures, reporting of crimes, law enforcement services on campus, fire safety, and information about support services for victims of sexual assault. The brochure also contains information about the University’s policy on alcohol and other drugs, the SafeWalk program and campus shuttle service. UNDERGRADUATE COLLEGES

Admission Requirements. Undergraduate students of other schools who wish to take Notre Dame summer courses and transfer credits should apply for admission to the summer session as non-degree students. Students selecting courses in science or engineering are required to submit official transcripts.

Admission to the summer session does not imply admission to a baccalaureate degree program in the regular academic year. Visiting students who wish to continue at Notre Dame during the regular academic year must apply to:

Office of Undergraduate Admissions
220 Main Building
Notre Dame, IN 46556

A Notre Dame undergraduate or graduate student who has been dismissed from the University because of poor scholarship or for other reasons may not be registered in the Notre Dame summer session under any classification.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL

Application for Admission to a Degree Program. Applicants seeking admission to a graduate degree program must complete the Graduate School’s online application by the deadline specified for that program. For the most current information regarding program admission requirements, the application, or the admission process, see the Graduate School’s website at graduateschool.nd.edu.

Complete details on the Graduate School requirements for master’s and doctoral degrees are available in the Graduate School Bulletin of Information.

Graduate Registration. Full-time Notre Dame graduate students receiving an academic stipend during the summer who are conducting research or departmental duties must be registered for the summer session and complete the ND Roll Call process. If no courses are required, the student should register for a zero credit independent research course.
Any non-degree student registered for fewer than six hours is considered part-time. The normal maximum registration for a graduate student during the summer session is 10 credit hours.

Notre Dame graduate students are not required to register for credit in the summer session in order to have access to University facilities and services, as long as they are enrolled for the spring term and plan to return in the fall. However, students who plan to graduate in August must register for the summer session and complete the ND Roll Call process.

Additional Information. For details regarding residency, degree eligibility, credit transfers and other policies, consult the Graduate School’s website at graduateschool.nd.edu or the Graduate School Bulletin of Information.

At Notre Dame, the Department of Africana Studies stands at the center of scholarship focused on Africa, the African American experience and the African diaspora - the global dispersion of peoples of African descent. Building on the legacy of the African and African American Studies Program, the department provides a disciplined and rigorous intellectual environment in which to study the histories, literatures, political systems, arts, economies, and religions that the African continent has given rise to, in the United States and beyond. These inquiries are conducted within an interdisciplinary framework that incorporates the expertise of faculty members from a wide variety of fields.

CRN: 4073
Last add date: 7/11
Drop dates: refund, 7/13; last, 7/21
Description: “Abraham Lincoln’s America” will use the life of the republic’s most celebrated president as a window to explore the transformations and continuities in American politics, cultures, economics, ideologies, and social life during the half-century ending in the cataclysmic Civil War. Using Lincoln’s own experiences as a starting point - his poor upbringing, his family’s frequent moves across the sectional borderlands, his self-motivation and professional ambition, his embrace of mass politics, and his rapid ascent to national leadership during the republic’s greatest crisis - students will explore much more than the sectional struggle and the fight to save the Union from secession. Important topics will include the evolving struggles over the meanings of race, freedom, and slavery; the increasing commercialization of the economy and the forging of new class relationships and identities; migration, property-holding, and relations with Native Americans in the rural and small-town west; changing realities and conceptions of gender, family, childhood, and parental authority; the changing role of local and national governments and the rise of political parties and mass political participation; and the heated contests over nativity, religion, and citizenship. In short, Lincoln’s personal experiences will be the entry into understanding American society as a whole during his life (1809-1865), and students will ponder the usefulness of biography to the larger historical project as well as the importance of memory and myth in the ways we repeatedly reconstruct the past.

AFST 33701 01: Sociology of Sport
3 credits, Welch
6/17 - 8/02 TR 1:00 PM-3:45 PM
CRN: 3045
Last add date: 6/21
Drop dates: refund, 6/25; last, 7/10
Description: The primary objective of this course is to examine the nature of sport in American society and the modern world. A variety of topics will be covered, including sociological perspectives on the history of sport, the relationship between sports and the entertainment industry, problems in intercollegiate and professional sports, and other issues. The course should be particularly helpful for students who are interested in careers in athletic administration, sports journalism or broadcasting, coaching, higher education administration, and entertainment law, and other aligned fields.

AFST 40203 01: African-American Civil Rights History
3 credits, Pierce
6/10 - 7/05 MTWRF 10:15 AM-12:10 PM
CRN: 3709
Last add date: 6/12
Drop dates: refund, 6/14; last, 6/22
Description: There may not be a term in American society as recognized, and yet as misunderstood, as “Civil Rights.” Often civil rights are conflated with human rights, even though each are distinct of the other. During the course, we will trace the African-American Civil Rights Movement in the United States during the 20th century, as well as its lasting impact on American society. We will do so using as many media as possible. Fortunately, we will have the opportunity to study an important part of American history in significant detail. The issues we investigate challenge the founding principles of American society to its core.

The Program of Studies. The Department of Classics offers courses in introductory and intermediate Greek and Latin, two languages essential for the study of ancient Greek and Roman, Judaic, Early Christian, Medieval, and Byzantine civilizations.

Upon successful completion of Beginning Greek II or Beginning Latin II, students normally enter intermediate Greek (CLGR 20003) or intermediate Latin (CLLA 20003) in the fall semester at Notre Dame. At the intermediate level, students begin reading the New Testament or authors like Homer, Plato, Cicero and Virgil. Upon successful completion of intermediate Greek or intermediate Latin, students are prepared to conduct independent research or enter advanced courses in Greek or Latin literature.

For advanced Latin students, summer courses are also available in Medieval Latin and Latin Paleography.

ENGL 20221 01: From Rome to Romance

Last add date: 6/21

Description: Geoffrey Chaucer may not have looked good in a toga, but that doesn’t mean he didn’t know his Roman myths. In the Middle Ages, authors looked to the classical period for poetic models, as well as for a fund of stories and myths ripe for their reuse through translation, adaptation and interpretation. In this class, we will explore some of the debt that the Middle Ages owes to the classical period, and how medieval authors used texts from classical Greece and Rome. Students will read a variety of classical texts, including selections from the Aeneid and Metamophoses, and will then read medieval texts that reuse the same stories, framed in a new context, and so trace their influence up through the fourteenth century. The class is an introduction to some of the most important authors of classical Rome (Ovid, Virgil) and the Middle Ages (Chaucer, Gower, Guillaume de Lorris). Even more, though, students will come to understand the dependence of medieval authors on the classical tradition, as well as how adaptation and variation contributed to artistic creativity. The vast majority of assigned readings will be modern English translations of texts originally written in Latin, Old French, Middle English and even a little Old English. But students will be aware of the language of the originals, and in the case of the Middle English texts, will do work both inside and outside of class reading and translating this.
medieval language into modern English. This course meets the ND University Literature Requirement.

ENGL 20323 01: The British Novel

CRN: 2903
Last add date: 6/21
Drop dates: refund, 6/25; last, 7/10
Description: Here we survey major British novels over a two-century time span, taking stock of key genre developments along the way. Proceeding chronologically, we begin by exploring how conventions of extended “realistic” prose narratives were established in the 1700s. Then we proceed up through the Romantic and Victorian periods, when the British novel reached a high point of social prominence, narrative variety, and sophistication. Finally, looking to the first decades of the 20th century, we see how Modernists fashioned radically new narrative approaches in an effort to move beyond the topical and literary constraints of the Victorian period. Likely readings include: Daniel Defoe, Moll Flanders; Mary Shelley, Frankenstein; Charlotte Bronte, Jane Eyre; Charles Dickens, Great Expectations; Bram Stoker, Dracula; Virginia Woolf, Mrs. Dalloway. Graded work includes short papers, classroom presentations, and a final exam.

Writers will include: James Joyce, Frank O’Connor, Liam O’Flaherty, Mary Lavin, Kate Roberts, D.H. Lawrence and Virginia Woolf.

FTT 50000 01: How to Teach Film Across the Humanities

CRN: 2822
Last add date: 5/19
Drop dates: refund, 5/20; last, 5/22
Note: CRN 3255 Section 02 is for graduate students.
Description: This Summer course is intended for Notre Dame faculty and graduate students who would like to incorporate films into their courses but have hesitated to do so because they have had little or no formal training in film studies. I have designed a week-long intensive course that will solve that problem by exposing seminar participants to the different pedagogical strategies they might use to incorporate films in their courses.

We will begin with a crash-course in close visual analysis because I think that’s the chief source of anxiety. So I’ve got this image up on the wall, what do I do with it? How do I get my students to be analytical about those images? Then we’ll explore the various ways that really productive interdisciplinary study can be achieved through film analysis. How can we use films effectively to pursue aesthetic, political, philosophical, or theological issues? Most importantly, how can we talk about film as a “way of knowing” in what are increasingly visual cultures?

During each morning session, I’ll introduce a variety of approaches through lecture, scene analysis, and short selected readings. We’ll have a screening each day, right after lunch, and then we’ll discuss pragmatic utilization of those methods in our afternoon discussions of the film, focusing on specific applications in courses now being taught or in the process of being developed.

Screenings and discussions in the Browning Cinema in the Performing Arts Center.

HIST 30405 01: Europe from the French Revolution to World War I

CRN: 4057
Last add date: 6/22
Drop dates: refund, 6/26; last, 7/11
Description: During this time Europe changed dramatically in ways that shaped the 20th century: political reform movements advocating nationalism, democracy, and socialism challenged established regimes; the industrial revolution led to massive changes in society and the economy, including the emergence of a large and affluent middle class and an industrial proletariat; European states consolidated power and mobilized popular support and an advanced technology for wars in Europe and throughout the world, into which they expanded as colonial powers; writers, artists and composers reacted to the changes and conflicts with novels, paintings, songs, and symphonies that, in their variety of styles, suggest the vitality and anxiety of this period.

HIST 30407 01: World War 2: A Global History

6/17-8/02 MTWF 1:15 PM-2:35 PM
CRN: 4069
Last add date: 6/22
Drop dates: refund, 6/26; last, 7/11
Description: “The Second World War is the largest single event in human history, fought across six of the world’s seven continents and all its oceans. It killed fifty million human beings, left hundreds of millions of others wounded in mind or body and materially devastated much of the heartland of civilization.” The above quote, from historian John Keegan, summarizes the focus—and points to the significance—of this course. World War II is an event that “defined an entire epoch in human history,” according to historian Thomas Childers. This summer, we shall investigate the causes, course, and consequences of the greatest conflict in human history. The focus of the course will be global, addressing most of the geographic areas involved, the major diplomatic, political and military events, and some of the key figures of the war. Students are expected to actively participate in debates and discussions; to write two to three short papers, and to take a final exam. This course is open to all students and satisfies the university history requirement.

HIST 30440 01: The Northern Ireland “Troubles,” 1920 to the present

CRN: 4058
Last add date: 6/13
Drop dates: refund, 6/15; last, 6/23
Description: This course explores the history of the six north-eastern counties of Ireland which became “Northern Ireland” in 1920/1. Northern Ireland remained part of the United Kingdom and had a built-in Protestant unionist majority, while the Catholic minority, alienated from the state from the outset, looked across the new border and to Dublin, capital of the Irish Free State, as the site of their allegiance. Northern Ireland was thus, from the beginning, dysfunctional, scarred by sectarian violence and systematic discrimination in housing and employment. After examining the origins of the state and the early decades of it existence, “the troubles,” which broke out in the late 1960s. The major episodes under scrutiny include the civil rights movement, Bloody Sunday, the hunger strikes, and the Good Friday Peace Agreement.

HIST 30685 01: Abraham Lincoln’s America, 1809-1865
3 credits, Graff
7/08-8/02 MTWF 10:15 AM-12:10 PM
CRN: 4059
Last add date: 7/11
Drop dates: refund, 7/14; last, 7/21
Description: “Abraham Lincoln’s America” will use the life of the republic’s most celebrated president as a window to explore the transformations and continuities in American politics, cultures, economics, ideologies, and social life during the half-century ending in the cataclysmic Civil War. Using Lincoln’s own experiences as a starting point - his poor upbringing, his family’s frequent moves across the sectional borderlands, his self-motivation and professional ambition, his embrace of mass politics, and his rapid ascent to national leadership during the republic’s greatest crisis - students will explore much more than the sectional struggle and the fight to save the Union from secession. Important topics will include the evolving struggles over the meanings of race, freedom, and slavery; the increasing commercialization of the economy and the forging of new class relationships and identities; migration, property-holding, and relations with Native Americans in the rural and small-town west; changing realities and conceptions of gender, family, childhood, and parental authority; the changing role of local and national governments and the rise of political parties and mass political participation; and the heated contests over nativity, religion, and citizenship. In short, Lincoln’s personal experiences will be the entry into understanding American society as a whole during his life (1809-1865), and students will ponder the usefulness of biography to the larger historical project as well as the importance of memory and myth in the ways we repeatedly reconstruct the past.

HIST 40851 01: African-American Civil Rights Movement

Description: There may not be a term in American society as recognized, and yet as misunderstood, as “Civil Rights.” Often civil rights are conflated with human rights, even through each are distinct of the other. During the semester, we will trace the African-American Civil Rights Movement in the United States during the 20th century, as well as its lasting impact on American society. We will do so using as many media as possible. Fortunately, we will have the opportunity to study an important part of American history in significant detail. The time span we cover will not be that great, but the issues we investigate challenge the founding principles of American society to its core.

Description: With the exception of the great cathedrals, the university is the most emblematic, successful, and enduring legacy of medieval European civilization. As students and teachers at a university, we are confronted by this legacy every day. But the medieval university was quite different from its modern descendent. In this course we will study the origins, development, and growth of the universities of Europe from the twelfth until the end of the fifteenth century. We will focus principally on the universities of Bologna, Salerno, Paris, and Oxford but will also examine the spread of universities throughout Europe. To obtain a complete picture of the medieval university, we will consider the legal aspects of universities, the development and debates over curriculum and ideas, the circulation of ideas and universities’ response to controversy, the influence and impact of new religious orders and religious movements, the daily life (often rambunctious) and careers of students and masters, the innovation of colleges, and finally, the role that political and religious institutions had on the university’s development. To aid our understanding of this period and institution further, we will examine and learn about the university’s most indispensable tool: manuscripts. This course is open to undergraduate AND graduate students.

The Program of Studies. The Department of Romance Languages and Literatures offers a summer program designed to meet the needs of those enrolled during the regular academic year who wish to supplement their work and those seeking to complete the requirements for the master's degree in French, Italian, or Spanish.

In addition, the department offers Intermediate Spanish I and Intensive Beginning Italian. Students who have completed Spanish 10102 or who have placed into 20201 can complete their language requirement during the summer.

Graduate reading courses in foreign languages are also offered for those graduate students who wish to prepare for the Graduate Reading Examination, or to complete the required reading tests during the summer session.

Undergraduate students should consult the undergraduate director of the department concerning the appropriate course selection, especially when they intend to fulfill a language requirement, or to complete part of a major course of study in modern languages. The department will permit advanced students to take up to three extra hours of credit in “Special Studies” based on individual arrangements with an instructor in the field.

Candidates for the master's degree in French or Spanish are expected to take a minimum of 30 credit hours of graduate courses, normally 24 credit hours in their choice field of literature, three credit hours of literary theory, and three credit hours of comparative literature. Reading assistants also take three credit hours of pedagogy. They can complete their coursework during the regular academic year and during the summer session, but not exclusively during the summer session. Students will arrange their individual course of study with the director of Graduate Studies.

Introduction to the Sociology of Wars, Terror

This course offers a broad introduction to the sociology of wars, terror, and communal violence, including their causes, conduct, and consequences. We will consider the basic social forces which impel people to kill and to risk death in the name of their societies. Films and other videos will make up a major part of our source material. Both for class preparation and in class use, as they are particularly apt for illustrating the nature and course of wars. We will mix lectures and discussions of various topics (including the authenticity of “war movies”).

We will survey the manifold characteristics of societies that contribute to and are affected by war and terror: politics; economics; religion; culture; demographics; the environment; gender; race, ethnicity, and nationalism; social movements; and social psychology. This course requires no background in sociology, but will introduce you to the sociological approach to explaining people’s behavior and to many basic sociological concepts and tools. Grades will be based on brief quizzes, participation, and a final exam. The course is open to students in any major who are interested in armed conflict in social life. It can be counted for the Arts & Letters Social Science requirement or as an elective.

Description: From Egypt’s Tahrir Square to Wall Street, citizens are taking their discontent with capitalists and governments to the streets. This course explores how global, domestic, and personal factors combine to influence street politics. We will build on social movement and collective action theories and on theories of globalization to address the following questions: What are some causes of political discontent in today’s world? When does discontent lead citizens to protest? What is the role of social networks and new technologies in contemporary protest movements? When do citizens pursue non-violent or violent tactics and how likely are these tactics to succeed? We will draw insights from social movements across the globe.

Theology

Program Description

The M.A. (Theology) degree is a 42-credit-hour degree, consisting of classes in consecutive summer sessions. Summer M.A. (Theology) students may take courses during the academic year for credit toward their degree. However, no academic-year tuition scholarships will be provided for such work.

There are six areas of concentration for the M.A. in theology: biblical studies, history of Christianity, liturgical studies, moral theology, spirituality, and systematic theology.

Apart from liturgical studies, an area of concentration is normally constituted by six courses in the area of concentration, one course each in five other areas, and three free electives.

The liturgical studies concentration includes 21 credits of basic requirements: liturgical history, liturgical theology, ritual studies, Eucharist, Christian initiation, liturgical prayer, and liturgical year. Students in liturgical studies will also pursue one course each in five other areas (15 credits), and two free elective (6 credits). Under normal circumstances, new degree-seeking students should plan on attending the first module in their first summer of residence. This will allow students in liturgical studies to take Liturgical History, Liturgical Prayer, Liturgical Theology, or Liturgical Year.

Those needing a more general and flexible program of studies may pursue a general M.A., in which the course of study is worked out in consultation with the director of the M.A. program or an area advisor, with the sole requirement being at least one course in each area of study. This may be of particular interest to those teaching theology in high school who wish to use the summer M.A. to enhance their effectiveness in teaching a number of different areas.

Prerequisites for Admission

(1) A bachelor’s degree
(2) At least 6 hours of coursework in theology or religious studies
(3) All applicable transcripts
(4) Three letters of recommendation
(5) Statement of intent
(6) The Graduate Record Examination (with minimum scores of 500 in both the verbal and quantitative sections, or 4/6 in the new analytic section)

Certification

For those who wish to take advantage of course offerings in the M.A. program without pursuing the degree itself, a certificate option is available. This enables students to take courses for credit without being liable to specific degree requirements or comprehensive examinations. Upon completion of a minimum of 24 credit hours, the Department of Theology will issue a testimonial certificate.

Application to the M.A. (Theology) Degree Program

Applications to the summer M.A. (Theology) program must include an application form, a statement of intent, transcripts of degrees and coursework, three letters of recommendation, and GRE scores. Applications are due April 15. All application materials should be directed to the Graduate School.

Online Application

Applicants are encouraged to complete and submit the application for graduate admission online. The application is available at graduateschool.nd.edu.

Additional Information for the Master of Arts Program:

Applying Online: The application deadline as a degree-seeking student to the M.A. (Theology) degree program is April 15. When applying online, be sure to complete the Degree Eligibility: Students must complete all requirements within seven years.

Nondegree credit hours: Students may apply up to 12 hours of coursework taken at Notre Dame before admission to their degree program. Hours taken beyond 12 hours as a nondegree student will not count towards the 42 hours of degree program coursework. All students are responsible for monitoring their respective hours of coursework.

The bibliographies must be approved by the area advisor (and/or the summer M.A. director) no later than one month before the student hopes to take exams. M.A. exams are given in the last week of July. Students must be enrolled and registered for a comprehensive review class during the session or semester in which they plan to take their exam. It is a very good idea for students to sit in on the comprehensive review class in their area of concentration the summer before they are scheduled to take their exams, to gain a clearer idea of the exam process.

The exam board, to be chosen by the advisor (and/or the M.A. director), will be made up of two faculty from the area of concentration, and one faculty from another area. Students pursuing the general M.A. degree may have an exam board chosen from three different areas. The student may confidentially choose the inclusion of one member of the board (subject to availability), and the exclusion of one faculty member. Each member of the exam board will submit three questions, framed in light of the five topics proposed by the student, to the area advisor, who will then formulate five questions.

The comprehensive exams themselves are made up of written and oral exams. The student will be asked to answer three of the five questions during the four-hour written exams, given on the Monday of exam week. These written answers will then be distributed to the board, and will form the basis of the 40-minute oral exam on Wednesday or Thursday of the same week. During the oral exams, questions not answered by the student on the written exams may be addressed, as may books on the bibliography and courses taken by the student. Evaluation of the student’s performance will be made on the basis of both the written and oral exams.

Reminders:

(1) If you are planning to complete the degree program, please keep in mind the basic process for preparing for comprehensive exams. You may find it helpful to note interesting issues, books or articles while pursuing coursework but do not have time to pursue. The exam process allows you the opportunity to read such books or articles.

(2) Some of you are nondegree students. If you are planning to become a degree-seeking student, then please complete the proper paperwork in a timely manner to become a degree-seeking student. Further, please keep track of how many credits you accumulate.

Liturical Celebration
During the summer session, an important part of student life is liturgical celebration. Morning and Evening Prayer are celebrated each day. Students are encouraged to join in these common prayers and to participate in various ministerial roles, including joining the choir, playing the organ or another instrument, or becoming a cantor.

Class Schedule
Graduate-level courses are arranged within two three-week modules (Module 1: June 17–July 5, 2013; Module 2: July 8–July 26, 2013). Students may choose to attend either or both of these, but may not take more than two courses for credit within any given module. Requests to audit courses in excess of this limit need the approval of the area coordinator. Degree-seeking students should normally plan to take no more than nine or 10 credits in any summer.

Normally all graduate courses will meet daily for two hours and 20 minutes. For further details, see the individual course description.

Course Descriptions. The following course descriptions give the number and title of each course. Lecture hours per week, laboratory and/or tutorial hours per week, and semester credit hours are in parentheses. The University reserves the right to withdraw any course without sufficient registration.

CRNs for independent study courses may be obtained from the department office, from the Office of the Registrar, or from insideND (inside.nd.edu).

CRN: 4085
Last add date: 6/21
Drop dates: refund, 6/25; last, 7/10
Description: This course examines the interrelationships between economic injustice and violence. It begins by investigating the gap between rich and poor both in the US and worldwide. We also look at the history of Christian thought on wealth and poverty. We then address the ways in which economic disparity intersects with the problem of violence in both domestic (violence against women) and political realms (war and revolution). Next, we canvass Christian thought on the use of violence. This raises the question of whether forgiveness for violence contributes more to violence or to peace. Finally, we pose the question of whether forgiveness for violence is advisable or feasible.

THEO 20894 01: The Christian Experience: Vocation and the Theological Imagination
3 credits, O’Malley

Last add date: 6/02
Drop dates: refund, 6/04; last, 6/08
Note: Please contact the Theology office at theo@nd.edu for departmental approval to register.

Description: This course provides an entrée into the theological foundations of Christian vocation through considering the transformation of human experience by means of the theological imagination. That God calls is an objective fact of revelation. How human beings perceive and appropriate this call is an entirely different matter. Thus, this course considers both the central images of Christian salvation history from creation to eschatology, as well as how these images were appropriated in the lived experience of Christianity. This course is designed to assist Notre Dame undergraduates who are preparing to work as “Mentors-in-Faith” within Notre Dame Vision.

a field education integrative seminar, this course will include interactive lectures, small group discussion sessions, and case study work on topics having to do with mentoring others in their personal and communal growth in faith and in their awareness of how to live their Christian vocations. Related theological topics include Christological and pneumatological perspectives on discipleship, grace, conversion, evil and human suffering, prayer, living the sacramental/liturgical life of the Church, becoming the Body of Christ, discerning the presence and action of God in our lives, and giving witness to faith in service and justice.

Son, is Lord: raised from the dead, saving us from our sins. Yet from earliest Christian times, believers in Jesus have been centrally concerned with Mary’s life, her role in the history of salvation as Mother of God, her holiness, her virginity and fidelity to God, her present share in the risen life of her Son. This course will consider some of the main texts and moments by which Christian beliefs about Mary and personal and liturgical devotion to Mary have developed, and will reflect on her central importance in the Christian life today.

THEO 60292 01: Contemplation, Contemplative Life and Contemplative Prayer
3 credits, Egan
7/08 - 7/26 MTWRF 8:30 AM-11:00 AM
CRN: 3942
Last add date: 7/09
Drop dates: refund, 7/11; last, 7/17
Description: In an era when the church has called for a New Evangelization, significant voices claim that the church must become a more contemplative church, a more listening church where life, prayer and ministry come under the guidance of the Holy Spirit. Vatican II broke with a religious culture that too often seemed to reserve holiness to the few. Lumen gentium, Chapter Five, changed all that when it proclaimed its “Universal Call to Holiness.”

This course explores the holiness tradition as it discovered that prayer, liturgical and personal, involves in some form contemplation, the contemplative life and contemplative prayer as well as the practice of meditation. These elements will be investigated as they are reported in the Hebrew Scriptures, that is, in the practice of haga in the Psalms and as well in what the major theophanies of these scriptures reveal about the divine encounters of Moses and Elijah. The intent of this course is to gather from the Judeo-Christian tradition a theological understanding of meditation and contemplation in the twenty-first century.

The prayer of Jesus of Nazareth will be explored especially for how this prayer bespeaks a connection with the contemplative tradition. Classical moments in the patristic era will be sampled with selections from Origen, Gregory of Nyssa (Life of Moses—full text), Pseudo-Dionysius in the East and from the West Augustine, John Cassian and Gregory the Great.

For the Medieval era there will be selections from Bernard of Clairvaux, Guigo II (Ladder of the Monks), Thomas Aquinas and John Gerson along with the full text of The Cloud of Unknowing.

From the sixteenth century selections from Ignatius of Loyola, Teresa of Avila and John of the Cross with a selection in the seventeenth century from Madame Guyon. From the recent and contemporary eras, selections from Garrigou-Lagrange, Thomas Merton, Thomas Keating and John Main as well.

The designation selections above indicate excerpts from the various authors.

THEO 60294 01: Early Church Christology
3 credits, Hofer
7/08 - 7/26 MTWRF 3:15 PM-5:45 PM
CRN: 3943
Last add date: 7/09
Drop dates: refund, 7/11; last, 7/17
Description: This course examines texts from key figures of early Christianity whose thinking has profoundly influenced the way Christians believe in and celebrate the mystery of Jesus Christ. Such thinkers include Irenaeus, Athanasius, Gregory of Nazianzus, Augustine of Hippo, Cyril of Alexandria, Leo the Great, and Maximus the Confessor. Special attention will be given to the interpretation of Sacred Scripture within the Christological controversies, in the arguments of what should be considered heretical and what should be considered orthodox. The teachings of the ancient ecumenical councils on Christ are examined and considered for their significance today.

THEO 60295 01: Spiritual Autobiography
3 credits, Heintz
6/17 - 7/05 MTWRF 8:30 AM-11:10 AM
CRN: 3944
Last add date: 6/18
Drop dates: refund, 6/20; last, 6/26
Description: This course will involve a careful, critical, and reflective reading of works that might be classified as “spiritual autobiography” in the Christian theological tradition. Examining these “self-presentations” as theological fonts, this course will introduce students to this genre and an understanding of each work in its historical and theological context. Particular attention will be given to the presentation of life as a “journey” with emphasis on those experiences which advance the person in his or her relationship with God. The roles of divine and human action located in experiences such as grace, sacramental action, self-examination, prayer, and good works will inform the way in which the course considers progress in the life stories. To that end, students will survey seminal texts in spiritual autobiography to consider and compare the way in which writers have come to express their movement into life or union with God.

We will then apply this to catechetics, asceticism, ecclesiology, and spirituality. CRN: 4065

Drop dates: refund, 7/11; last, 7/17
Description: Confusion reigns supreme when it comes to discussion of bioethics: whether in a hospital ethics committee, presidential debate, an academic journal, or over a pint in a pub. It is more often characterized by people talking past each other than about discussion of the same topic, to say nothing of actually making progress on a particular issue. For instance, three very different topics: the personhood of the fetus, the permissibility of ever killing the fetus, and public policy about the personhood or killing of the fetus, are often unhelpfully lumped into arguments over a single topic: abortion. This course attempts to deal with several classic topics in bioethics in a way that cuts through the confusion by dealing with each of the three kinds of issues (moral status, killing/treatment/care, and public policy) systematically. The course will emphasize the Roman Catholic moral traditions, but will almost always be in conversation with secular traditions as well. Key points not only of disagreement, but, importantly, agreement will be emphasized in an attempt to at least get the issues straight and, perhaps, move the debate forward.

THEO 60806 01: Ecclesiology
3 credits, Colberg
6/17 - 7/05 MTWRF 12:30 PM-3:00 PM
CRN: 3693
Last add date: 6/18
Drop dates: refund, 6/20; last, 6/26
Description: This course examines the development of the Church from both theological and historical perspectives. It seeks to assist students in constructing and refining critical principles of interpretation that apply directly to the mystery, mission, ministries and structure of the Church. Of central concern are the questions of how the Church has understood its mission at various points in its history and what developments have impacted this understanding. Strong emphasis is placed on the theological developments that have occurred before, during and after the Second Vatican Council as these periods saw critical development in the Church’s self-understanding.

Description: There are a number of issues relating to the culture of academic life that are typically left unaddressed in formal course work and degree programs, but which are of concern for those who plan to spend their careers in academic life. This course introduces doctoral students, especially those in the humanities, to a number of these in an effort to promote professional development. This course is built around four major areas: academic positions and expectations, teaching and teaching skills, research, and service. We will explore a wide range of topics for each of these areas, including the preparation of a C.V., an explanation of the tenure process, syllabus construction, the use of technology in teaching, establishing a research agenda, participation in professional societies, external grants, citizenship in the university and society, and principles for a successful career. The course emphasizes the practical requirements of the professorate. It is designed for those in the job market but is open to any who want to learn about the requirements of academia.

The Summer Toledo 2013 fee is $6,470 and $7,500 for students who wish to live with a host family. This includes tuition, 6 Notre Dame credits, full room and board, complete health insurance coverage, a $200 Notre Dame administrative fee, 3 one-day excursions and 1 guided visit to Toledo, bus from and to the airport, and extra-academic activities (cena rompehielos with Spanish students, flamenco dancing classes, Spanish cooking classes, voluntary work in the community, conversational exchanges, etc.). Airfare between the United States and Spain is not included.

Uganda/Rwanda

The School for International Training (SIT) conducts the Peace and Conflict Studies summer seminar from early June to mid July. This program examines the historical, political, and social dimensions of the conflicts of the Lake Victoria Basin.

Working with local non-governmental organizations, students study the issues and challenges of peace-building; they visit refugee camps and internally displaced people’s camps where they examine challenges facing the region and the actions being taken in response to the problems. Students earn 6 academic credits.

The students’ first week in both Uganda and Rwanda consists of classroom discussions, readings, and lectures focusing on history, contemporary politics, and the role of the state. Excursions to carefully selected sites, introductory language instruction, and homestays with local families complement studies.

Students reside with host families during one week of their stay in Kampala or Gulu and for two weeks in Kigali. Additional housing is provided at hotels or guest houses. Most meals are included in the program fee. While in homestays, students will have breakfast and dinner with their host families. Students are responsible for their travel.

SIT arranges to meet them at the airport. During the homestay period, students use taxis to get to and from the university for which they receive a stipend. Although the program is administered by SIT, students will be billed by the University's Office of Student Accounts. The program fee will be approximately $8,700 plus airfare and a Notre Dame administrative charge. The fee includes tuition, room and board, excursions, and most transportation while abroad, including an administrative fee. Specific program information is available at http://international.nd.edu/international-studies/students/international-studies-locations/summer-uganda/.

BACKGROUND

Notre Dame Law School began its Summer London Law Program for American law students in 1970 to provide students an opportunity for deepening their understanding of our own legal system through comparing it with British legal institutions; for studying common law subjects at their place of origin; and for learning comparative and international law at a leading center of those disciplines.

The Notre Dame program is the oldest American summer law program conducted in London. In recent years, slightly more than a third of enrolled students were from Notre Dame Law School; a number were from Australia; the remainder were from some 20 different law schools in the United States. Based on past experience, it is expected that a similar number of students from an equally diverse group of schools, from both the United States and Australia, will participate in the 2013 program. The curriculum emphasizes courses in the comparative and international law fields taught largely by British faculty. Students have found that the opportunity to study law in such a program not only facilitates their obtaining a law degree but enables them to learn about and enjoy the rich legal and cultural heritage of Britain.

London itself offers theaters, museums, and numerous sightseeing opportunities, as well as the Royal Courts of Justice, the Central Criminal Court (Old Bailey), the Inns of Court, and the Houses of Parliament. Places such as Oxford, Cambridge, Bath, Canterbury, Stratford, Windsor, Brighton, and Winchester are a short train journey away. An added pleasure comes from getting to know students from a variety of law schools located in all parts of the United States and abroad.

FACILITIES

The Notre Dame London Law Centre is at 1 Suffolk Street on the northwest corner of Trafalgar Square in central London. The Law Centre is next to the National Gallery and National Portrait Gallery, on the edge of theatreland, and only 10 minutes walk from Buckingham Palace and Downing Street to the west and legal London to the east. Public open areas such as St. James Park, Waterloo Gardens, Embankment Gardens, and the River Thames are less than five minutes walk, while King’s College, the London School of Economics, and the Royal Courts of Justice are nearby along the Strand.

The Law Centre has a core collection of American law books in its library, as well as a small collection of comparative and international law materials. More extensive legal research may be done in the American and European collections of the Middle Temple Library.

ACADEMIC INFORMATION

Notre Dame Law School is fully accredited. Although other law schools have regularly approved transfer of credits, all students should ask their home schools about credit prior to registration in London.

It is expected that 6 courses providing a total of 12 hours of academic credit will be offered in the summer of 2013. A student may enroll in courses up to a maximum of six hours of credit. Auditing of courses is allowed with the permission of the particular faculty member and with the written approval of the director. The program runs for six weeks. Classes begin on Monday, July 1, and end on Friday, August 2. Examinations are scheduled between Aug. 5 and Aug. 7. All courses comply with the standards of the American Bar Association and the Association of American Law Schools.

Credits are calculated on a semester basis. Students attending law schools using a quarter system can convert the credits obtained by applying a 50 percent plus factor (i.e., two credit hours on a semester basis are equivalent to three credit hours on a quarter basis). It is unlikely that participation in a foreign summer law program may be used to accelerate graduation. Students interested in acceleration are referred to their home schools to review this point in light of the ABA Standard for Approval of Law Schools 304, Interpretation 4.

Credit for courses taken will be given in the same manner as for courses taken at Notre Dame’s home campus, and grades received will be reflected on standard Notre Dame transcripts. The grading system used at Notre Dame Law School and in effect for the summer program is as follows: A, A-, B+, B, B-, C+, C, C-, D, F. F is a failing grade.

QUALIFICATION FOR ADMISSION

Any student in good standing at a law school who will have completed one year of academic work prior to June 1, 2013, is eligible for the program. A completed registration form will be construed as a certification that the applicant meets the requirements and will advise the program director of any change in academic status. To be officially enrolled in the Notre Dame Summer London Law Program, each student is required to submit to the Admissions Office a letter of good standing from the student’s law school.

Applications must be received no later than April 1, 2013. Because enrollment in the program is limited, students should apply as soon as possible. Spaces are available on a first-come, first-served basis.

TUITION AND FEES

Registration fee is $50 (nonrefundable unless rejected due to full enrollment).

The following is a budget for the 2013 Summer London Program. This budget represents the expected costs for tuition, living expenses, and transportation. This budget also represents the maximum amount of loan assistance available for the Summer London Program.

- Tuition: $3,800
- Transportation (Roundtrip airfare):
  - Chicago to London: $1,300
  - Transportation: U.K.: $1,000
- Room: $2,000
- Food: $645
- Books and Supplies: $240
- Entertainment and Personal: $300
- TOTAL: $9,285

Tuition is nonrefundable unless failure to attend is for verified reasons of illness, military obligation, or if the U.S. Department of State issues a travel warning for England. The Summer London Law Program has never been canceled. In the unlikely event that the program is canceled, a full refund of tuition will be made.

The summer program is not in a position to provide direct financial assistance to program students; however, the Notre Dame Office of Financial Aid will process loans or other benefits to which students might be entitled. Questions concerning financial aid may be directed to the Office of Financial Aid at (574) 631-6436 or via email at finaid.1@nd.edu. Students attending from other institutions are encouraged to work directly with their home institutions using consortium agreements regarding their financial aid opportunities. Loan assistance can usually be obtained for the full cost of the program, including living expenses and transportation. Students must, however, enroll on at least a half-time basis to receive loan assistance.

PAYMENT SCHEDULE

- Registration fee ($50) with application due by April 1, 2013.
- Tuition ($3,800) due by 5/13/13.

Participants in the program who are relying on loan assistance to meet the costs will be exempted from the tuition payment deadline if evidence of a loan commitment is provided by the deadline dates.

ADMINISTRATION AND FACULTY

Prof. Geoffrey Bennett, Notre Dame Law School, is the director of the Summer London Law Program.

Other faculty members are expected to be as follows:

requirements. Meals are not included in the price of the room as the accommodation is self-catering. There are a wide range of shops and restaurants nearby. The building is equipped with Wi-Fi.

Because the number of rooms in Conway Hall is limited, and because we will assign rooms on a first-come first-served basis, we encourage you to submit payment as soon as possible after you receive your billing statement. A room in Conway Hall will be assigned to you only after full payment has been received by the University Office of Student Accounts. Regrettably, no exceptions can be made to the policy requiring full payment. All housing payments are non-refundable unless it is possible to reassign the room. If the program were to be cancelled before its commencement, housing payments would be refunded. If it was cancelled after commencement, for reasons beyond the control of the University, a refund would be made on a pro rata basis.

Summer London participants residing in Conway Hall may check in on Saturday, June 29. Students must vacate their rooms by noon on Thursday, August 8.

LAW 74401 01: Public International Law
2 credits, Reece-Thomas
7/01 - 8/02 MTWR 11:30 AM-12:40 PM
Description: This course examines the vital role of law in contemporary international society; the nature and sources of international law; the relationship between international law and municipal law; international personality; states and non-state actors; dispute settlement; the use of force and peace-keeping; the United Nations system; jurisdiction and immunities; diplomatic law; terrorism; human rights; treaties and state succession; state responsibility and foreign investment protection; law of the sea; and international environmental law.

LAW 74402 01: Law of Cultural Heritage
2 credits, Cribari
7/01 - 8/02 TWRF 10:15 AM-11:25 AM
Description: Art and antiquities cause problems. Private collectors and museum directors and curators and boards of trustees, professional and amateur archaeologists, scholars and academics, politicians and legislators and military commanders, native cultures, indigenous peoples, religious groups, conservers and restorers – all have interests in the rare and the beautiful. Those interests may be artistic or scientific, economic, political, cultural or religious. Art and antiquities are also commodities. They can be owned or possessed, loaned or sold, stolen or looted, legally or illegally exported and imported. This summer we will consider a variety of these interests by discussing questions such as should the Elgin Marbles or the Rosetta Stone be in the British Museum, Greece or Egypt? How do countries use their cultural property laws to take down, or erect, cultural and political barriers? Should we protect cultural property during conflict and, if so, how? Do antiquities, like art, have independent artistic value or are they only worth what they are worth for scientific study? What ethical obligations guide museum directors and art restorers? How should we resolve Holocaust-Era art claims? This will be accomplished through readings, lectures, field trips, and the writing of a final research paper/essay (approximately 20 pages) on a subject relevant to the course and approved by the instructor.

LAW 74450 01: Criminal Procedure
2 credits, Cribari
7/01 - 8/02 TWRF 9:00 AM-10:10 AM
Description: In its 2008 and 2009 terms, the Supreme Court decided over a dozen cases significantly affecting fourth, fifth and sixth amendments to an adversarial criminal justice system in which the government and the defendant are represented by skilled (?) counsel. Is it a constitution we are expounding? See M’Culloch v. Maryland, 17 U.S. 316 (1819), in the light of the knowledge we gain from the mistakes we make, see Graham v. Florida, USSCT No. 08-7412 (May 17, 2010) (Stevens, J., concurring: “Knowledge accumulates. We learn, sometimes, from our mistakes . . .”), or does the Bill of Rights “consign this Nation to a static legal existence,” McDonald v. Chicago, 561 U.S. ___ (2010) (Stevens, J., dissenting at 55)? In light of these recent developments, the goal of this course is to provide a basic familiarity with the theory, doctrine and practice of the fourth, fifth and sixth amendments and the Court’s jurisprudential approaches to Constitutional decision-making in this area. We will cover search and seizure, self-incrimination/involuntary confessions, the right to counsel, and the role of counsel generally in the adversarial system.

LAW 74451 01: English Legal System
2 credits, Gregory
7/01 - 8/02  TWRF 10:15 AM-11:25 AM
Description: This course examines the principal features of the English legal system and of the constitutional structure, institutions, law and practice of the United Kingdom. Topics studied are designed to draw attention to differences between the English and U.K. systems and the position in the United States. Topics include the structure and organization of the courts; the legal profession; legal education; judges; the jury; costs and litigation; legal aid; the U.K. parliament; sources of constitutional law and practice; the U.K. government; the European dimension; and human rights in the U.K.

LAW 74453 01: Carriage of Goods by Sea
2 credits, Hawker
7/01 - 8/02  MTWR 2:00 PM-3:10 PM
Description: This course looks at the carriage of goods in international trade. We live in a world in which the transportation of goods is a fundamental part of both international and domestic business, and litigation in respect of these carriage disputes is inevitable. The course is based on English Law, with comparisons made with practice under other jurisdictions where appropriate. English law is frequently chosen to govern shipping contracts, the common law nature of English law allowing for judicial “creativity.” We see, therefore, the development of this area of contract law, which aims to meet the needs of those involved with the international shipment of goods. The course predominately covers contacts for the carriage of goods by sea and charterparties, as most goods are shipped by this mode of transport, although carriage by air and land is introduced. The course also considers difficulties that arise when goods are the subject of a multimodal contract of carriage, and problems that arise when carriage contracts are negotiated by freight forwarders. The combination of the intellectual rigors of the law and trade realities make this a rewarding subject.

LAW 74459 01: European Union Law
2 credits, Moens
7/01 - 8/02  MTWR 12:45 PM-1:55 PM
Description: This course introduces students to the legal system of the European Union (EU). Emphasis will be placed on the constitutional, administrative and commercial law of the EU. The topics that will be discussed in this course include the political and economic origins of the EU, its institutional structures (with emphasis on the European Court of Justice), the Union (Maastricht) Treaty, the interrelationship between EU law and the laws of the twenty-seven member states, and the four fundamental freedoms: free movement of goods, workers, services and capital. The course will concentrate on the transnational protection of economic and social rights and the jurisprudence of the European Court of Justice.

LAW 74465 01: International Business Law
2 credits, Moens
7/01 - 8/02  MTWR 2:00 PM-3:10 PM
Description: This course provides students with an introduction to the law of international trade. It begins with an examination of the concept of free trade and the international structures that have been created to foster the liberalization of international trade. It then focuses on the United Nations Convention on Contracts for the International Sale of Goods (CISG), followed by a consideration of Incoterms 2000. The course then focuses on the Uniform Customs and Practices for Documentary credits (UCP 600) and financing of exports. Finally this course also provides students with an introduction to the World Trade Organization (WTO), anti-dumping and countervailing duties law.

Objectives. Gender studies is an interdisciplinary academic program that analyzes the significance of gender - and the cognate subjects of sex, sexuality, race, ethnicity, class, and nationality - in all areas of human life. Gender studies illuminate how gender and its cognates inflect the experiences of individuals, as well as the development of practices and institutions. The gender studies supplementary major and minor provide the intellectual framework in which the analysis of gender and its cognates can be creatively and critically applied to the arts and humanities, the natural and social sciences, the professions and the workplace, and one’s personal, familial, and civic life. Alongside our diverse array of courses drawn from across the University, our summer internship and academic-credit internship programs emphasize the holistic and practical life applications of a gender studies education at Notre Dame.

This course explores how global, domestic, and personal factors combine to influence street politics. We will build on social movement and collective action theories and on theories of globalization to address the following questions: What are some causes of political discontent in today’s world? When does discontent lead citizens to protest? What is the role of social networks and new technologies in contemporary protest movements? When do citizens pursue non-violent or violent tactics and how likely are these tactics to succeed? We will draw insights from social movements across the globe.

INSTITUTE FOR LATINO STUDIES

Assistant Provost and Director:
Gilberto Cardenas, Ph.D.
Dept. Tel.: (574) 631-4440

The Institute for Latino Studies (ILS) was established in 1999 to advance teaching and research on the Latino population from both an interdisciplinary and comparative approach. Beginning the fall 2004, students may pursue a minor in Latino studies in conjunction with any undergraduate major. The institute offers courses cross-listed with departments in a wide range of areas. Following the path of Julian Samora (1920–96), esteemed Notre Dame professor of sociology from 1958 to 985, the institute contributes to the teaching, research, and service mission of the University. The institute’s primary aim is to further the understanding of the history, culture, literature, and sociopolitical position of Latinos in the United States. In recognition of the strong Catholic foundation of the Latino community, and the rich Catholic heritage of Notre Dame, the ILS provides academic and service programs that promote a greater awareness of Latino religious life.

The institute’s facilities include the Galería América@ND for exhibitions and special programs focusing on Latino art, while the Julián Samora Library provides students, faculty, and visitors with a scholarly and

The M.N.A. is designed to provide professional training in administration and leadership for managers in nonprofit social services, arts, or religious organizations. Description: This seminar explores the roles that novelists, playwrights, filmmakers, poets, actors, painters, and other artists play in inspiring social change in the United States. Although some see the arts and popular culture as mere entertainment, we will examine these modes of representation as critical responses to social problems such as poverty, racial and gender inequality, stereotypes, and violence. How do the creators of artistic and popular texts engage with social problems and inspire action among the public? What are artists’ commitments and responsibilities to society and to their local communities? How can we—as budding scholars, artists, and critical thinkers—use the arts and popular culture to instigate social change? In our quest to answer these questions (and many others, including those devised by the students), this seminar will immerse students in a wide range of activities, from an improvisation class with an award-winning acting teacher to a studio visit with a renowned visual arts professor to a critical study of race in contemporary American cinema.

Summer Scholars participants will have, to the extent possible, the full experience of a Notre Dame student: academic courses and fieldwork with some of Notre Dame’s finest faculty members, as well as the residential, social, and spiritual connections that come with living in a residence hall. Academic tracks that will be offered are Acting for Stage and Screen, All Roads Lead to Rome, Blood, Guts, and Glory: The Anthropology of Sport, Business, Debate and Public Speaking, Film, Gender and Culture in American Society, Global Health: Science, Medicine, Policy, Life Sciences, Literature, Performance: Voice, Photography: Seeing Creatively, Psychology and the Self, Research Computing Expeditions, The Brothers Karamazov, The Law, Theology and the Church’s Evolving Mission.

Students must apply for the academic track of their choice by February 15, 2013. Because enrollment will be limited to 10–30 students per track, early application is advised. Admissions decision letters will be mailed by April 15. Criteria for selection will include the student’s academic and standardized testing record, involvement in extracurricular activities, personal essay, a guidance counselor report, and one letter of recommendation from a guidance counselor or current teacher.

Description: Faith, Imagination, and Justice:

A consideration of the spiritual dimensions of literature from fairy tales to recent American narratives. Special concerns: faith, writing, and commitment; art and empathy; the dynamism between literature and life; the sacramental imagination; and visions of justice, community, and the dispossessed.

The program will engage students with questions related to community and social justice through reading, personal writing exercises, discussion, and volunteer service. Students should also expect to view and discuss several topic-related films, hear from selected guest speakers, and participate extensively in community service projects with local groups working with the afflicted and homeless.

Description: There are many common misconceptions about the discipline of psychology. Often times, psychology is thought of as a field based on “common sense” which lacks a foundation in science. This course aims to rectify these views by presenting theory, research, and real-world applications related to the science of psychology.

Students in the psychology track will explore the science of psychology and will be exposed to directions that this field is likely to take in the near future. In addition, they will gain a better understanding of why human beings think, feel, and act in certain ways as well as an understanding of how research-based treatments can assist people who are suffering from mental disorders. Students will learn about the various subfields of psychology, including developmental, clinical, quantitative, and cognitive, and will gain an understanding about the work of professionals in each of these areas. A primary emphasis of this track will be on translational research, which focuses on bridging the “bench to bedside gap” and disseminating empirically based information to the public in meaningful and relevant ways.

In this stimulating seminar we will look at many aspects of this question, from how huge changes in scientific knowledge have affected believers to how huge changes at Vatican II have affected the world. The approach will be multi-disciplinary, so students with an interest in a wide variety of topics—from science to economics, from politics to spirituality—will find this to be an exciting conversation with some of Notre Dame’s most brilliant thinkers.

The seminar will include dynamic presentations from Notre Dame professors as well as time for class discussion. One interesting “extra” that will be a fascinating exploration of change: we will go on a field trip to visit with the Amish, a community which is often described as ‘not changing.’ Our time on this trip and all of our learning in the classroom will clearly get us thinking about how we find our bearings in a rapidly changing world.

Description: From Capitol Hill to the county courthouse, the workings of law in American society have shaped, and continue to shape, our very way of life. This track will expose students to the many facets of the American legal system. The groundwork for this track will be laid in the exploration of the United States Constitution, as well as current legal issues. Students will also participate in an active investigation of the court system, from both a civil and criminal law perspective. Additionally, students will learn about rules of evidence and investigate various areas of substantive law, including tort law, constitutional law, criminal law, and federal anti-discrimination laws. The track is delivered through a combination of classroom lectures, discussions, team projects, student presentations, field trips, and mock trials.

Description: This track uses a debate format to help you develop skills that will also enhance your academic work. We will work within the format of policy debate, an exciting component of Notre Dame’s debate program. Because policy debates present detailed arguments about one topic, they require strong research and writing skills—skills that will benefit you in debate and in your academic work.

The first half of the program provides opportunities to develop skill in public speaking through short informative and persuasive speeches and interviews. We will also watch clips from film and television programs that illustrate points raised in class. To help you develop arguments for your debates, we will work with Notre Dame’s extensive library holdings. You will learn how to use a college library and work with electronic databases and specialized journals. Field trips will also offer opportunities to gather material for your presentations. After you’ve gathered evidence for your topics, Notre Dame faculty and graduate students will help you develop briefs, hone your arguments, and give you intensive, one-on-one instruction in making presentations.

Description: Film and video production can take many forms, from television news production, to commercial production, to documentary and feature filmmaking. The production process is communal. No one person can produce a film. It’s a group effort, and the Summer Scholars Film Track allows students to work closely with their peers as crew members and creative collaborators, learning from each other and making friendships that last well beyond their two weeks on campus.

Students will learn the history of motion pictures, study the craft of filmmaking, and actually produce and direct their own short film, which will be screened at the end of the summer experience inside the state-of-the-art THX Browning Cinema right on the Notre Dame campus.

Description: Ever wonder what it takes to become a professional actor? The art and skill of acting are only a part of the puzzle. What do actors do when they aren’t acting? The actor is an independent contractor who markets and interviews and negotiates for work.

The Summer Scholars Acting Track covers both acting training and the business of being an actor. In the first week, students study voice and movement, scene study, and monologue preparation. Script analysis, improvisation, and character studies give actors the tools to create memorable performances. All classes are held in the Marie P. DeBartolo Center for the Performing Arts, a state-of-the-art facility with multiple theatres, classrooms, and a soundstage.

Week two covers the business of being an actor, and acting for film and television. Students will travel to Chicago to see a play and meet with professional actors and directors. Each participant will create a résumé, take starter headshots, and perform in short scenes that will be open to all Summer Scholars participants.

Description: Singing is a challenging vocation. Foremost is study of the technical challenges of the instrument (the singer’s own self), accompanied by a growing mastery of music theory and history of the art form. This initial training is often less structured than study in college, which often creates difficulties that need not exist if seen and dealt with in advance.

For up-to-date summer session information, please visit us online at summersession.nd.edu.
As a singer begins their career, a worry is often whether one is "good enough” or will be “lucky enough” to actually have a career in the art. Talent and luck can be augmented by training the chief organ of singing: the mind. Along with the mechanics of music and singing, and artist must know the history, psychology, and societal values of the works they perform.

The Summer Scholars Voice track covers the technical, physical, spiritual, and business aspects of singing. Daily instruction in vocal technique, musical skills, acting, diction, and style will help prepare singers for careers in college and beyond. In addition, discussion and research on the nature of musical performance and its place in society will enrich the practical aspects of the singer’s craft. Finally, specific advice and direction on college choice and career development will help young singers begin to plan for their future.

Description: The place of Fyodor Dostoevsky’s final, and greatest, novel, The Brothers Karamazov (1880), is firmly set in the annals of literary history. Not only did it help to redefine the novel genre, but it has remained a classic of Western literature for over 125 years. In this two week track, students will find some of the most profound and illuminating statements ever made on a variety of topics, from the nature of God and faith to the challenges posed by the growing culture of late-nineteenth-century materialism, from the spiritual liberation found in the power of love and suffering to the moral and psychological destructiveness of false utopias.

Working with one of the leading scholars on The Brothers Karamazov, the students will strive to unlock Dostoevsky’s structural innovations, analyze his complex psychological characterizations, and interpret his rich system of symbols and allegories in order to get a clearer understanding of his view of the individual, of society, and of life itself - both in this world and the next. In addition, the program will include a cultural excursion to Chicago.

Description: Our world community faces many grand challenges such as developing sustainable energy, understanding climate change, curing disease, and stabilizing international crises to promote peaceful resolution. The solutions to these challenges will require talented young thinkers working together across multiple disciplines such as engineering, science, business, and the humanities. These bright individuals will need both access to and understanding of the world’s best technical tools to address the inherent complexity. In our discipline we call these tools research computing and the student scholars who join us for the summer will have the opportunity to learn first hand their amazing power to solve some of the hardest problems. If you think your laptop, iPhone, or Xbox is impressive (and they are), you will marvel at your new understanding and access to systems with over 1000 times the capability of your consumer systems.

In the first week of the program you will be introduced to High Performance Computing (HPC) and have the opportunity to work in teams to build and operate your own modest “super computer”. You will be introduced to the operating system environments (Linux), computer programming languages (C++) and scripting languages (Python and shell) that harness some of the world’s most powerful computers. By the end of the week you will be running simulations of hurricanes, molecular proteins, and social networks. In week two we will introduce a broader view of research computing to include 3D visualizations, large distributed data sharing, interactive web development, and mobile device programming. We will then finish the week and the program with a capstone opportunity for students to shadow members of our research and development team. Throughout the program there will be a continuous focus on motivating and inspiring participants to explore the use of research computing in their fields of interest. Whether they aspire to be a doctor, lawyer, engineer, business entrepreneur, or philosopher; their new understanding of the research computing tools available to them will give them a substantial boost toward a successful career.

Description: The proverb “All roads lead to Rome,” first recorded in writing in 1175 by the theologian and poet Alain de Lille, remains as true today as it was in the Middle Ages. Literally true for ancient Rome as the center of a millennia world empire, the phrase remains true for Rome as the epicenter of classical, Italian, and Christian civilization, a phenomenal concentration of history, art, culture, and spirituality that has continued to nourish and inspire world civilization through the centuries to this day.

Italian Studies at Notre Dame invites you to explore Rome, Italy, and the World in the Summer Scholars at Notre Dame program. Our two-week seminar takes the city of Rome as its destination, viewed from perspectives of archeology, architecture and art, political and social history, the cinema, literature, and music. It is designed for high school students with an interest in Rome and in Italy who seek an intellectually challenging and richly diverse and innovative immersion experience in the Mirabilia Urbis Romae (Marvels of the City of Rome).

Description: In this seminar, we will explore some contemporary gender issues through two main angles. We will use case studies to analyze some “Gender/ed Realities” that influence contemporary American society. We will also explore ways that these issues are represented and disseminated in print, on screen, and online. Topics to be discussed might include: cyber-bullying and constructing an online identity, treatment of female candidates in election seasons, controversies about the HPV vaccine, the gendering of toys, domestic violence in dating relationships, body image expectations, gender nonconforming youth, and gendered roles.

within family structures. We will address the questions of how “woman”/“the feminine” and “man”/“the masculine” have been represented and created in our cultural system. In the process, we will explore the relationship between popular culture and gender, as well as how the media constructs gender and how those constructions become cultural norms and mores.

Description: This course aims to increase students’ understandings of the complexity and interrelatedness of sport and society. We will first briefly review the evolutionary, prehistoric, and historic foundations for sport in play and ritual. We will then spend most of the class exploring the ways in which contemporary sporting practices are entangled with cultural processes. From everyday practices to highly ritualized events, the anthropology of sports can help us gain valuable insights into broader social and cultural phenomena. Drawing from examples of sports in Latin America, the United States, and other parts of the world, we will pay special attention to questions of gender, race, nationality, equality, and justice. In addition, students will be encouraged to think critically about their own sporting experiences and how sports impact their lives.

There are no pre-requisites for students interested in taking the workshop, but students are asked to have a strong desire for creative thinking and image making. Students will expand their creative talents, build a portfolio and learn about career options. This comprehensive photography course uses the latest in digital cameras, imaging software, inkjet printers, studio lighting, and traditional black and white darkroom techniques to explore the students photographic vision. There is extensive digital training in image capture, file processing, manipulation, and printmaking along with a historical and theoretical overview of photography to assist in the student’s image creation. Classes will focus on aesthetic aspects of composition, point of view, the moment and subject matter. All of the techniques learned will support the focus of the week: finding new ways of expressing our creativity.

Days are filled with photographic history lessons, hands on equipment demonstrations, supervised lab exercises, photography field trips and critiques. Assignments encourage participants to expand their ability to see and respond to the world around them. Students will photograph each other, the South Bend and Notre Dame landscape, markets and city life. Upon completion of the Summer Scholar workshop, students will leave with the techniques learned will support the focus of the week: finding new ways of expressing our creativity.

Description: The Global Health track will provide an overview of the major global health challenges in under-resourced settings both within the United States and in developing countries. Students will learn how to calculate the “burden of disease,” how epidemiologists project the seriousness of an outbreak of disease and learn innovative strategies used to improve health. We will also discuss the role of different players in global health and its truly interdisciplinary nature. Global health challenges must be solved by medical professionals, development practitioners, policy makers, scientists and you!

The field of Global Health is much broader than curative initiatives and this track is designed not only for students who plan to enter a medical profession, but anyone with an interest in learning about the complexity of global health challenges. We will discuss the important role of medical professionals in the field of global health, in addition to other initiatives in disease control, prevention programs to reduce disease incidence, and the importance of addressing the other social determinants of health.

The Spirit of Inclusion at Notre Dame
“Strangers and sojourners no longer…” (Ephesians 2:19)

The University of Notre Dame strives for a spirit of inclusion among the members of this community for distinct reasons articulated in our Christian tradition. We prize the uniqueness of all persons as God’s creatures. We welcome all people, regardless of color, gender, religion, ethnicity, sexual orientation, social or economic class, and nationality, for example, precisely because of Christ’s calling to treat others as we desire to be treated. We value gay and lesbian members of this community as we value all members of this community. We condemn harassment of any kind, and University policies proscribe it. We consciously create an environment of mutual respect, hospitality, and warmth in which none are strangers and all may flourish.

One of the essential tests of social justice within any Christian community is its abiding spirit of inclusion. Scriptural accounts of Jesus provide a constant witness of this inclusiveness. Jesus sought out and welcomed all people into the Kingdom of God - the gentile as well as the Jew, women as well as men, the poor as well as the wealthy, the slave as well as the free, the infirm as well as the healthy. The social teachings of the Catholic Church promote a society founded on justice and love, in which all persons possess inherent dignity as children of God. The individual and collective experiences of Christians have also provided strong warrants for the inclusion of all persons of good will in their communal living. Christians have found their life together enriched by the different qualities of their many members, and they have sought to increase this richness by welcoming others who bring additional gifts, talents, and backgrounds to the community.

The spirit of inclusion at Notre Dame flows from our character as a community of scholarship, teaching, learning, and service founded upon Jesus Christ. As the Word through whom all things were made, Christ is the source of the order of all creation and of the moral law that is written in our hearts. As the incarnate Word, Christ taught the law of love of God and sent the Holy Spirit that we might live lives of love and receive the gift of eternal life. For Notre Dame, Christ is the law by which all other laws are to be judged. As a Catholic institution of higher learning, in the governance of our common life we look to the teaching of Christ, which is proclaimed in Sacred Scripture and tradition, authoritatively interpreted by Church teaching, articulated in normative understandings of the human person, and continuously deepened by the wisdom born of inquiry and experience. The rich heritage of the Catholic faith informs and transforms our search for truth and our understanding of contemporary challenges in higher education.

This statement was adopted by the officers of the University on August 27, 1997.
